Tom Wagner
(1952-2010)
Memorial Scholarship,
Award-$500

Tom Wagner, served as President of Local 101 of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) - which is now part of IAM 1688.

Wagner, shortly after becoming a delegate to the Erie-Crawford Central Labor Council (CLC), demonstrated his willingness to advocate on behalf of all labor by serving as Erie-Crawford CLC's Corresponding Secretary. Passionate in his support of Community Service, Wagner served as that committee's Co-Chair. A "kid at heart" Wagner's favorite Community Service activities were the annual Christmas Programs for children, which included the distribution of dozens of wrapped presents. Due to his college study in communications, Wagner served capably as the editor and publisher of the Erie-Crawford CLC newsletter. His hours of effort to perfect the publication (including many late nights) were not known beyond a few members of the CLC. However, his skillful writing attracted readership beyond CLC membership and helped the wider community understand the important role labor plays in the region. Wagner's death, after a short illness in March 2010, was a sad loss for the Erie-Crawford CLC and the region.

Theo Sabin Meyer
(1890-1986)
Memorial Scholarship,
Award-$750

Educator Theo Sabin Meyer, after her marriage to Ludwig G. Meyer, left teaching and began organizing. Her success in founding the Erie, PA chapter of the Women's International League, attracted the attention of leaders in the AFL and the CIO. Meyer was recruited to use her skills to advocate for labor beyond northwestern Pennsylvania. Meyer helped coal miners organize in Aliquippa, PA, and fought for women's rights. She challenged the practice of sending children to jobs, instead of to school. She was also a spirited and courageous speaker. It is reported that she delivered remarks to President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, while he led the United States through the great depression and World War II (1923-45). Meyer's 20th century efforts to champion the rights of workers, women and children inspires social justice reform today.

John "David" Dever
(1942-1981)
Memorial Scholarship,
Award-$500

In 1960, after graduating from Cathedral Prep, Dever attended Gammon, then joined Fenestra Corporation and USWA 3972. Dever's photographic memory, love of debate and commitment to labor led him to serve as a union steward. Dever served for 12 years as USWA 3972 President before becoming Staff Representative & Organizer. Willing to collaborate with others, Dever served as delegate to both the Central Labor Union and Industrial Union Council, AFL-CIO. A member of the United Labor Leaders, Dever served on the executive board of the United Way Labor Leaders. Aware of labor's growing struggles during the latter part of the 20th century, Dever encouraged community support through public service. Leading by example, Dever served as a member of the Community Service Committee with both his local and the council organizations; he worked with the State Police of Erie and Crawford County for 14 years, served as a National Guard Reservist for 14 years and volunteered with the PA Public Interest Coalition. Dever's efforts were both pragmatic and symbolic - Dever advocated for a labor monument dedicated in Perry Square. Though his life was short, Dever "made a difference."
